

How to make it:

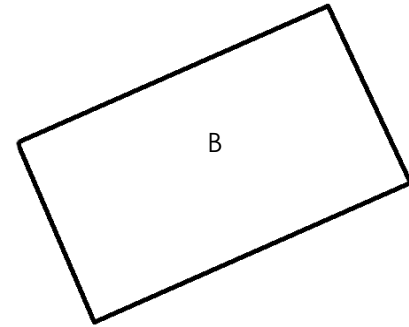

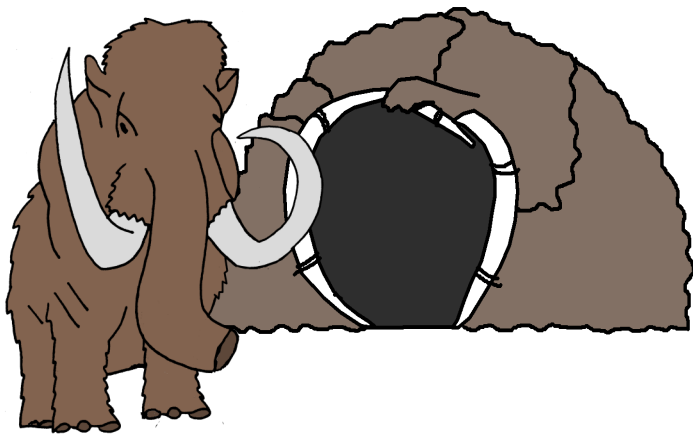

(Pages 1 & 2 are the cover of the book. Page 3 is the pop-up.)

1. Print all 3 pages. (Print pages 1 and 2, back to back, on cardstock. Go to step 3.)
2. Pages 1 and 2 will need to be glued back to back. Use a glue stick to cover the back of this page with glue. Set the back of page 2 on this page and press to hold. Fold in half, so page 2 is on the inside.
3. Cut out the structure. Fold structure in half, back to back. Fold tabs up.
4. Glue tabs in place inside the book cover.
5. Carefully close the book making sure structure folds forward.
6. Open the book. The structure pops up.

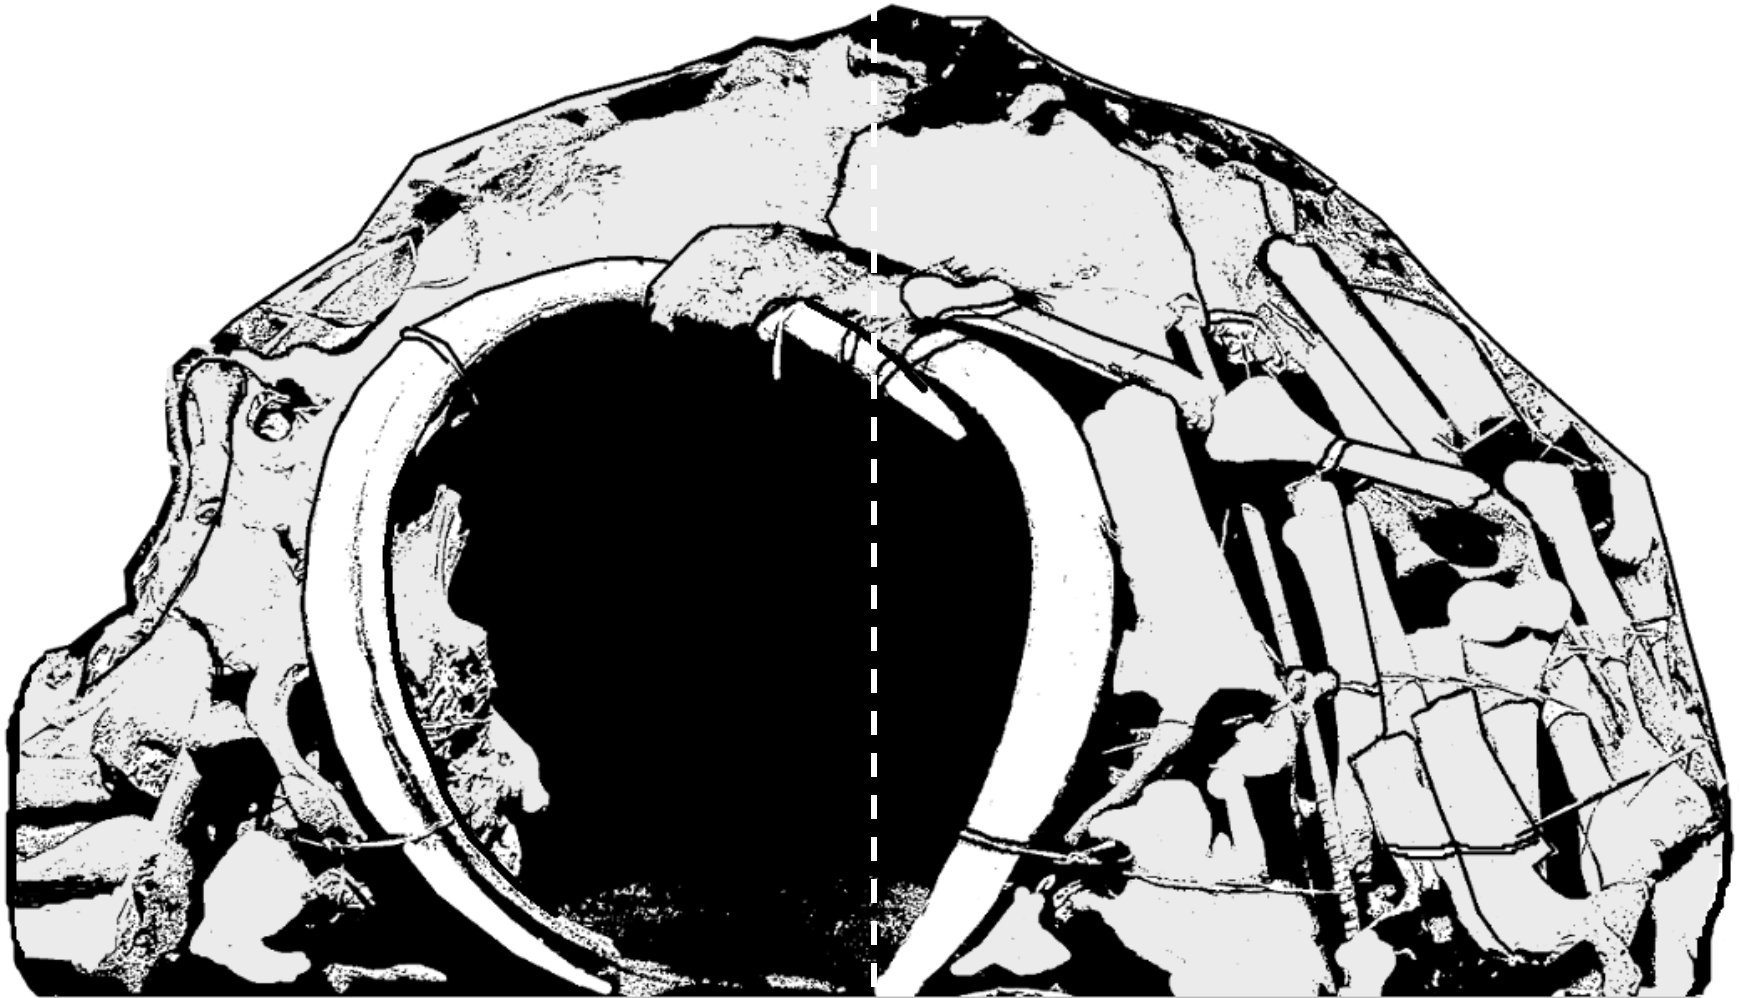

Mammoth bones were tied together to create a frame.
Mammoth fur was used to cover the frame.

Prehistoric people often found shelter in caves. When they couldn't find a cave nearby, they had to build a shelter. Sometimes they used the bones and fur of the woolly mammoth.

WOOLLY MAMMOTH HUT - BONE FRAME

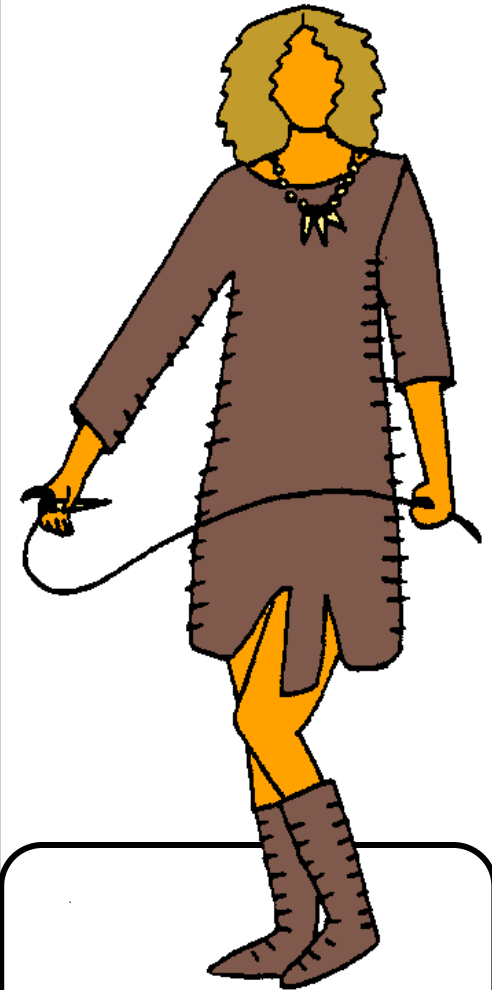

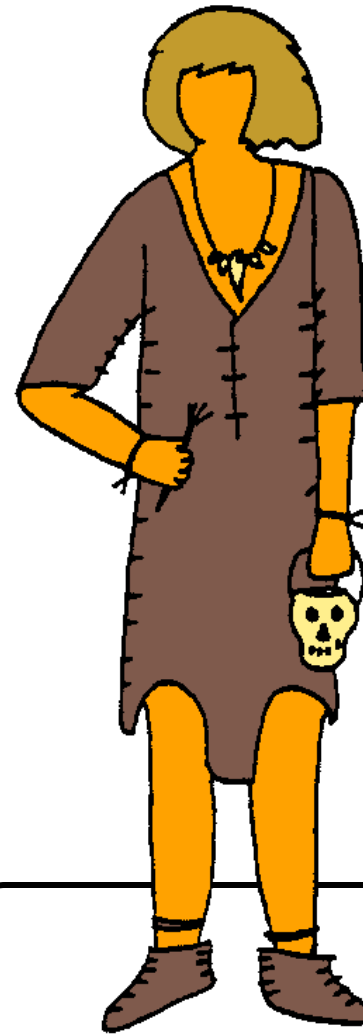

A

B

PAPER MANNEQUINS Fashions of the Old Stone Age

Cut out each mannequin. Use them in your Stone Age display.

©2021 ZING-ZOOM.COM

Old Stone Age Fashion
NEANDERTHAL

When animals were killed for food, their skin was used for clothing.

Old Stone Age Fashion
NEANDERTHAL

Animal skins kept people warm during the Ice Age.

Old Stone Age Fashion
CRO-MAGNON

People used grease and smoke to tan animal skins to make leather.

Old Stone Age Fashion
CRO-MAGNON

An awl was used to poke holes in leather. Animal tendons were stitched through the holes.